

2003 HIV PREVENTION AWARDS

UPDATED 04/17/03

Texas Department of Health (TDH) recognizes that not every person at risk for HIV infection belongs to the top ranked high-risk populations identified in the area action plans. While funded prevention programs are required to aggressively recruit identified top ranked high-risk populations into interventions, TDH expects these programs to serve other at-risk persons as resources permit. In situations where the top ranked high-risk population is small, this target population may even constitute a minority of the total number served by the intervention. Although HIV prevention activities must target the highest risk groups in any given part of Texas, other persons at risk will continue to be served in significant numbers.
